TO VIEW THE ENTRIES IN THE CALENDAR

The image shows a screenshot of a web-based calendar interface. At the top, there are two buttons: "view all events" and "new event". Below this is a calendar grid for the month of Saturday. The date "1" is highlighted, and a blue hyperlink "Omagh Show" is visible. A callout box with an arrow pointing to the "Omagh Show" link contains the text: "Clicking on the Omagh Show link should open the Calendar entry up and you will be able to read any other information about the event." Another callout box with an arrow pointing to the "1" in the calendar grid contains the text: "Pick the month you want to view. Click on the Entry Hyperlink." Below the calendar, there is a detailed view of the "Omagh Show" event. The title is "Omagh Show" with a sub-header "« Thread Started on Today at 11:36am »". The main content of the event is: "Eddie Cartright 028 82242500 email: Info@tyronefarming society.co.uk Craft Marquee, NO TABLES SUPPLIED £30 for 10ft section Outside, £3 sq.metre £30 minimum, Electricity £20 for socket inside or outside". At the bottom of the event details, it says "« Last Edit: Today at 11:56am by Elaine Conn »" and there is a "Logged" status indicator with a globe icon. A "Forum Jump" dropdown menu is partially visible at the bottom right.
